Dear [Recipient Name],

I'm writing to you regarding the [job title] that opened recently. I came across the internship description on University of Adelaide Career Hub and was delighted to find that my academic background meets all the necessary requirements, making me the ideal candidate for the position. I'm currently seeking a strong start to my software engineering career so that why I was drawn into this exciting opportunity.

As a computer science student at the University of Adelaide, I have acquired skills in using various programming languages, developing application, testing, and delivering products to customers in both personal projects, course works, as well as collaborative projects. I feel I can utilize these same skills to further your company initiatives.

In closing, I am excited about the opportunity and feel can fully support the team as well as the business and encourage the overall growth of the company. I look forward to hearing more about the position and appreciate your consideration.

Sincerely,

Xuan Thinh Le
